Mobile

A mobile is made by hanging ornaments made from lightweight materials such as paper, plastic, metal, or thin pieces of wood from strings or poles, balancing them in position. When blown by the wind or lightly pushed by someone's hand, they spin around in interesting patterns, making them fun to watch. There are some very valuable mobiles, such as "moving sculpture" artworks, but in general they are used as interior decorations or educational toys. This mobile depicts birds flying in the sky, and cute little fish swimming in the sea. The arm that the string hangs from shows a day scene on one side and a night scene on the other. Have fun decorating your room with this playful, moving mobile!
